Young dad's support for Sarcoma UK...

Neil's cycle ride from Paris to Rome for charity

Neil with his biggest supporter daughter Elinor.

AS The GEM was going to press, a young father from Rhoose was about to complete a Paris to Rome cycle ride, aiming to raise funds for Sarcoma UK.

Neil John (36) who works as the senior stage technician at St David's Hall, was diagnosed with fibrosarcoma in August 2009, but was determined to think of other people who have suffered from the condition.

His wife Jo (32) who works in the education department at St David's Hall, and who flew out to join him in Rome, explained: "Neil is part of a team of six. They left Paris on Sunday, May 26, at 9am. The cycle ride was scheduled to take 11 days in total."

Neil's daughter Elinor was born in January, 2010, just a few months after his diagnosis.

Neil had a successful operation, but the family endured considerable distress, with Neil wondering whether he'd be able to hold Elinor when she was born.

The good news is that Neil made a good recovery, and now hopes to get the 'all clear' after a five-year period.

Sarcomas are rare cancers that develop in the supporting or connective tissues of the body such as muscle, bone, nerves, cartilage, blood vessels or fat.

For more information on the charity Neil is supporting, go to www.sarcoma.org.uk

Neil has already raised £831 from 40 donations. He needs just a few more to get him over his target of £1,000. If you would like to help, go to: www.justgiving.com/NeilJohn.

Bus operator is replaced after exam worries

PUPILS from Rhoose, Penmark and Llancarfan who attend Cowbridge Comprehensive School, reported this week that the V5 bus service had not turned up on the morning of GCSE and A-Level examinations.

The Vale Council announced on Tuesday (June 4) that a new operator, Watts Coaches, had been appointed to see the service through until July 20, when it is due to end.

- The GEM contacted GM Coaches, the previous operator, but no comment had been received before going to press.

Tories propose Airport revival scheme

AFTER attacking the Welsh Government for its decision to buy Cardiff Airport, the Conservative Leader, Andrew RT Davies, now says that it should be possible to sell it on at a profit.

Details of the five-point Conservative scheme to bring this about are detailed on page 4.

One proposal is to devolve powers to set air passenger duty levels for Wales.

Alternatives to 'bedroom tax'

THE Vale MP Alun Cairns, wrote in last week's GEM, expressing his support for the 'bedroom tax'.

He must know that almost half the people affected are getting a disability payment.

Does he also know that there are almost no smaller properties available for these vulnerable people to be able to move to?

This leaves them with a choice between losing part of their benefit, or perhaps becoming homeless. He ended the article by writing that anyone who criticises the bedroom policy needs to explain where the money would come from to reverse the policy.

Here are a few ideas: cut back on overseas aid; tax the excessive profits made by utilities companies; tax the bankers' bonuses; bring back the 50p top tax rate; and act to stop tax avoidance.

Instead of just talking about it, really do something to get the economy growing.

Airport and cuts to bus services

DO residents in the Vale, especially these who voted Labour and Llantwit First Independent Party, appreciate the hypocrisy of Welsh Labour and Vale Council electioneering in 2012, which promised to, and I quote: "*Improve travel and transport, to co-operate in the delivery of initiatives to secure integrated transport, improving bus and train services for local communities"

Well, one year on and Labour have cut the bus grants and, with the exception of some potholes which have been filled, there appear to be no initiatives, integration or improvements to the services in our local community.

As most normal people appreciate, the reverse seems to be the case, the bus services have been cut, resulting in job losses and missed appointments.

Perhaps we would have had some improvements to our services had the Welsh Labour Government not purchased Cardiff Airport.

Well, I guess the First Minister and his ministers can't be expected to travel to an English airport when they need to travel on their business trips to such places as Turkey, LA, Brussels, Barcelona and Chongqing.

I wonder what the Chinese can possibly have to offer the Welsh Minister for Housing?

I also wonder just how much has been spent promoting Wales abroad, and how much business has been actually generated as a result?

Gordon Wilkie

Walkers & cyclists should be friends

I AM an avid cyclist and adore cycling along the coastal paths and routes of the Vale.

Unfortunately, some walkers resent us. If I approach a walker, I slow down and manoeuvre past them, if it is safe to do so.

If not, I let them know I would like to pass and they usually step aside with a smile and a greeting, and I also reciprocate with a polite thank you.

So, whatever exercise we enjoy, please let's just share these wonderful sights in harmony.

On a last note, my bicycle does not defecate along the way – but if it did, I would stop, pick up the mess and dispose of it accordingly – unlike a minority of irresponsible dog owners.

'Far better ways to tackle congestion than new road'

THE development of Barry Waterfront is long overdue – however, proponents of the new road between Barry Island and Ffordd Y Mileniwm are likely to be disappointed by its impact on congestion on busy days.

There is latent demand to drive to Barry Island, so any new capacity will quickly be taken up by those who currently avoid the causeway on busy days.

Inbound congestion is caused by the time it takes to park. If the speed at which cars can be parked on the island is not improved, there will simply be two queues with journey times as they are today. Providing sufficient parking for occasional days of exceptional demand is extremely expensive.

By creating a new route to the island, Braess's Paradox may occur... The paradox is that adding extra capacity to a network, when the moving entities selfishly choose their route, can in some cases reduce overall performance.

This means that individuals will choose their route on the basis of the flow of traffic, and their perception of reducing their own personal travel time – rather than the quality of the road, or the needs of the system.

The opening of Asda and the Cafe Quarter will further impact upon route choice and travel times.

Closing roads and removing street parking on the Island may have a more beneficial effect on congestion than the new road – which in being free attracts vehicles, encourages loitering, and discourages the use of pay-and-display car parks.

The Vale Council also needs to work at improving public transport infrastructure and services – especially Sunday and Bank Holiday services.

It must not repeat the mistakes seen along Ffordd Y Mileniwm and elsewhere when providing walking and cycling infrastructure – where the paths are too narrow, too close to hazards and not buffered from the road.

Ian Perry,
Vale of Glamorgan.

'WELL DONE TO VALEWAYS'

WITH Geraint Thomas as leader, and me tagging along as his back-marker on a beautiful warm sunny Saturday morning with a cooling breeze, it was a pleasure to take part in the recent annual Vale of Glamorgan Walking Festival.

One month earlier, a risk assessment was carried out on the picturesque route at Peterston-super-Ely, when five stiles were found to be defective, one actually leaning over at a very dangerous 45-degree angle, and Geraint duly reported the fact back to Valeways.

As a result of this, in recent weeks a large amount of work has been carried out by Valeways, with stiles either being totally replaced or duly repaired.

So, from the leader and the 11 walkers who enjoyed their glorious stroll at Peterston and the Ely valley, grateful thanks are sent to Valeways, for responding so quickly to make the route easier and much safer to walk.

It is very much appreciated.

Long wait for new junction

IT was good to see Labour cabinet members turn up for a question and answer session at Dinas Powys, but I was most disappointed that, as the first one to raise a hand to ask a question, on behalf of the much-flooded residents of St Cadocs Avenue, I was told by the Leader, Coun Neil Moore, that I could not ask a question as I am a Vale Councillor!

What nonsense! So much for openness and transparency.

In an open question to the cabinet, therefore, I want to know when Dinas Powys will be getting a replacement junction to replace the propped-up, Cross Common Road bridge, which was recently only deemed to be safe for another two years?

I asked for this junction over 10 years ago in one of our regular meetings of the Plaid Cymru group, with the then director, Rob Quick and senior heads of department of planning and highways.

The options were discussed for a new replacement bridge with a wider roadspan, or a new junction further towards Barry, to avoid the river.

We opted for the new junction and have been waiting impatiently ever since.

When will urgent Dinas Powys traffic/flooding problems be addressed?

Is Foreign Office on another planet?

THIS question has been asked before, and will no doubt be repeated in the future, but does this Government have control of its civil service, and does one arm of the Government know what another is doing?

I ask because, on a recent short business visit to Burgas, Bulgaria (which, if we are to believe certain politicians and media outlets, will soon be exporting its population en masse to the UK), our British Government is simultaneously extolling the virtues of British life and culture – and actively encouraging them to come here.

A series of 'British Weeks' is being held until June 11, showcasing our music, creativity, sport, heritage and business – while at the same time, the Foreign Office has placed advertisements in Bulgarian underground stations.

No! This is not April Fool's Day, and highlights of the campaign include a charity football match with Aston Villa FC, while Jonathan Allen, our ambassador, is opening the embassy for "traditional English (not Welsh!) tea and cakes".

Is Mr Cameron, who has said he wants to reduce the 'pull' factor for Bulgarians, aware that the Foreign Office appears to be on another planet?

Regeneration: 'Barry's 40 years behind the times'

IT is very telling that a recurring theme in The GEM is people venting their wrath at things not getting done. The current topic is the second access road to Barry Island.

Another recurring theme is various councillors claiming credit for some relatively small triumph, and sniping at their opponents – in my view, a blatant tactic to draw attention away from what is not getting done.

I can't claim to be a 'Barry Boy', but I have lived elsewhere and can compare Barry to other places – and the evidence I have seen speaks for itself.

The decline of the south Wales seaport towns is down to the demise of the global market for Welsh anthracite coal to power steam engines in factories, in railway engines and in ships all over the world, when the world switched to oil-powered diesel engines.

That took place during the 1940s and 50s. By the 1960s, it was all over.

The second access to Barry Island is important to those who live on the Island, but one element in the regeneration of the town as a whole.

Why is it that people feel it necessary to have a public meeting to consider what action can be taken to speed up the construction of a road?

Swansea began a massive regeneration programme in the 1970s and it has never stopped. Cardiff has re-invented itself twice.

These things do not happen by themselves. These things happen, not because somebody waves a magic wand, they happen because people take action to make them happen.

As far as regeneration is concerned Barry is 40years behind the times.

Why? It's a good question isn't it.

Councillor's cautious welcome for town centre appraisal

PLAID councillor Ian Johnson has welcomed a report on how to improve local town centres, but warned that delivery of the proposals was crucial.

Consultants working for the Vale Council compiled the report which suggests ways in which Barry, Penarth, Llantwit and Cowbridge town centres can develop positively in the future.

Coun Johnson pointed out that the report came at a time when vacancy rates in Wales have hit 18 per cent, according to the British Retail Consortium.

He said: "I am pleased that this delayed report has finally been presented, but the crucial issue is delivery, so that we can have town centres in the Vale of which we can be proud.

"With regards to Barry town centre, the report supports what Plaid Cymru has said for many years – that there is a need to integrate the town centre with the Waterfront and that we must have a wider choice of shops.

"In the past I have called for help for 'seed' shops to give new shops the chance to establish themselves before paying rates, or pop-up shops like the Barry Arts Centre store that is currently in the old Blockbuster shop."

Coun Johnson said he felt there were 'gaps' in the report.

"The crucial issue for Holton Road is footfall, and office accommodation is key to that – people popping out for lunch or doing a quick bit of shopping on a daily basis.

"It is important that the Vale Council themselves conduct a review of how their offices are affecting Holton Road footfall.

"We should also look at how public transport, including Barry Dock and Barry train stations, can be better connected with the surrounding shopping areas."

BURGLARY: police issue E-fit image

POLICE in Penarth investigating a house burglary last Wednesday, May 29 on Lavernock Road, have released an e-fit image of the suspect.

An E-fit image of the suspect.

"Shortly before 3pm, a man was seen using a mobile telephone outside the house before approaching the property.

"Access was gained after a window pane of the back door was smashed. The burglar was disturbed after entering the property and fled from the scene", a spokesperson said.

"He is described as white and of skinny build, he was over six feet tall and aged in his early 40s. He had a balding head with short brown hair around the sides. He was wearing a brown/green jacket and carrying a rucksack."

The burglary took place in broad daylight and any passers-by would have seen the culprit rushing from the scene.

Anyone with information is asked to contact DS Julian Kerslake at Barry CID on 01446 731606 or 101 (or anonymously via Crimestoppers on 0800 555111, quote reference 62130159310).

Dinas Powys' plea for facilities on former school site

THE need for community facilities was stressed to Coun Chris Elmore, the Vale cabinet member for children's services, when he attended a Dinas Powys Community Council meeting.

He presented the results of the consultation exercise regarding the future of the former St Cyres school site at Murch Crescent.

Coun Elmore explained that the responses to the consultation indicated support for sporting facilities, some housing, a church with additional facilities, and a medical centre.

He also responded to questions from community councillors.

Concern was expressed about the impact that housing would have on the local road infrastructure and access problems, particularly on to the main road at the Murch traffic lights.

Residents of Murch Crescent are also worried about the impact of hundreds of vehicles travelling down Murch Hill.

Chair of the council, Val Hartrey, thanked Coun Elmore for providing the information.

Burst water main causes disruption

A BURST water main caused disruption in the centre of Barry on Thursday, May 30.

Late in the afternoon, workmen were doing their best to reconnect residential and business owners who had been left without water supplies.

Plaid Cymru councillor Ian Johnson told The GEM: "When I visited the scene at about 5pm, there were a dozen workmen on site at the corner of Buttrills Road and Gladstone Road outside Barry's Memorial Hall.

"I was pleased that they had not wasted any time getting down to work.

"This was a quite substantial water main, so the impact was obviously quite widespread across the town."

Coun Johnson said he'd spoken to Vale Council and Dwr Cymru officials, who hoped the water would be reconnected later that night.

He added: "I am sure that there will be an investigation into what caused this problem."

QUESTIONS WILL BE AIRED IN PENARTH

IT is question time at the Penarth Aviation Society's next meeting on Friday (June 7) when a panel of three experts will deal with all the things air passengers and aviation buffs may have wondered about.

These range from the very ordinary, like 'Why don't in-flight customers need sick bags any more?' to professional aircraft designers' and engineers' queries on characteristics of various flying machines and developments.

The answer to the sick bags is that turbulence has been almost entirely designed out of flying. There was a time when it was so bad a passenger could be thrown out of his seat, and there were even fatalities.

Minimum leg-room was 31 inches: now it is 33; and by the way, they serve lots of caviar on Russian aeroplanes – though Brian Thomas one of the panellists whose job often involved flying in Russian aircraft, jokes that being a Welshman he preferred his caviar with chips.

The three panellists will be able to answer any questions but with a well-informed audience, there are sure to be some enthusiastic discussions. Visitors are welcome to join in.

PAS meets in the Penarth Conservative Club at 7.45pm for 8pm, on the first Friday of each month. Further information from David Ephraim, tel. 01446 721321 email: www.penarthaviationsociety.co.uk.

Collision leads to Dinas delays

A traffic collision at Cardiff Road, Dinas Powys on Thursday morning, May 30, led to a road closure.

A police spokesman said: "Both vehicles were recovered and the road was later re-opened.

"One of the drivers was taken to hospital as a precaution."

Traffic restrictions have gone mad...

BEFORE the Holton Road enforcement officers were employed, it was near impossible to park in and around the 'main shopping area' of Barry – but since their arrival, I just drive through and don't stop.

In this day of the motor car, there should not be so many restrictions. A resident should be able to park anywhere in their street, as they have a permit.

Leaving areas where no other vehicle can park and empty is maddening for shoppers looking around to park. I am certain that shop owners could quite easily put out a marker for the use of loading and unloading bays – whereas now they are empty until 12pm – and the empty taxi rank is another wasted area.

Barry town needs more shoppers and unless people can park, the town will go even further downhill.

INAUGURAL CLASSIC CAR SHOW DRAWS THE CROWDS TO SULLY

DINAS POWYS Rotarians, organisers of the the inaugural Vale of Glamorgan Classic Car Show at the Sully Sports and Leisure Club, were determined to make the most of a mixed weather forecast on Bank Holiday Monday.

Hundreds flocked to the show, a charity fundraiser, which also featured stalls selling motoring memorabilia, auto jumble, and traditional fair and hot and cold refreshments, a spokesperson reports.

As well as local exhibitors, there were entrants from west Wales, the Valleys, Bristol Gloucester.

Organisers said they were delighted that not only did the first time event see 200 classic cars being exhibited at the picturesque location, which overlooked Sully Island and the Bristol Channel but the weather held long enough to make the day an enjoyable experience for all. As the last car drove away the rain started!

The show was officially opened by the Mayor of the Vale, Mrs Margaret Wilkinson who was welcomed by club president, Ged Crosby.

This was great experience and a wonderful team effort by the Dinas Powys Rotary Club members, and a repeat will definitely be on for 2014!

Tories' five-point 'blueprint' for Cardiff airport

A 'BLUEPRINT for Cardiff Airport', which sets out a "vision for growth in passenger numbers, routes and value for money", has been launched by Andrew RT Davies, leader of the Welsh Conservative group in the Assembly.

The event was co-hosted by Byron Davies AM, the group's Shadow transport minister.

Mr Davies also set out plans to reimburse taxpayers for the £52 million spent by the Welsh Government to purchase Cardiff Airport. He said the "bold vision" would more than double the value of the airport and lead to its return to private ownership, with profits being split between investment in infrastructure and returning the spend to Welsh taxpayers.

"Cardiff Airport should be seen as Wales' gateway to the world, but unfortunately it is suffering from neglect and a lack of leadership and vision."

Conceding that the Conservatives had opposed the Welsh Labour Government's decision to nationalise the airport, "now that the money has been spent it is vital that we work hard to make it a success and return it to private ownership as soon as possible. We believe that the Welsh Government could have supported Cardiff Airport earlier, and with a far more modest investment; by offering support to airlines seeking to establish new routes.

"We have an ambitious plan to increase the airport's value by attracting new airlines and routes, improving public transport links and using air passenger duty as a lever to make rates at Cardiff Airport more competitive."

The blueprint seeks to: establish a new 'Airlines' Director; to attract new carriers; devolve air passenger duty to Wales, to lower rates to improve competitiveness; improve the Welsh marketing campaign to showcase Wales to emerging markets; improve public transport links to Cardiff Airport and plan for longer-term investment in road infrastructure; and enhance freight transfers through Cardiff Airport by offering competitive rates to local, regional and international businesses.

Basketball boys wait on tables – to pay for trip

The Welsh under-18 team are due to compete in the European Championships (Division C) in July, and Harry Stubbington, Nico Pele-Wilson and Sam Roberts will be using their handling skills to carry trays of food and drink.

Organiser Tracy Stubbington said: "Chaplin's in High Street Barry, have kindly allowed us to open the restaurant at 7pm on Sunday, June 9, for a three-course fundraising meal.

"It will cost £20, with half going to the basketball team, and the staff are all donating their time free to help us.

KATHLEEN'S SPECIAL AWARD FOR 44 YEARS IN CLASSROOM

by PHILIP IRWIN

A Vale teacher has won the Ted Wragg Award for 'Lifetime Achievement in Education in Wales'.

Kathleen Dungey received her award at the Pearson Teaching Awards ceremony, and was nominated by her headteacher for her "exceptional" service – having taught at the same school since 1968.

Kathleen told The GEM that she had started her career in the science department, specialising in biology and chemistry at Mostyn Roman Catholic High School in Cardiff.

However, after a reorganisation of Catholic schools in Cardiff in 1988, it became known as Mary Immaculate High School.

Later, Kathleen changed her focus, teaching Religious Education with special responsibility for Personal and Social Education.

She was nominated by her headteacher,Marc Belli, who said: "Kath has worked at the school for 44 years in a number of capacities ranging from classroom teacher of science to pastoral teacher, and more recently as the school counsellor.

"Kath has been an exceptional member of staff, always willing to 'go the extra mile' and makes it her business to support children, their families and ensure every child receives the best possible education.

"Her compassion and dedication to support all students is nothing short of amazing. At the end of the academic year, Kath will be retiring and the school will lose an amazing talent, who has served the school so well.

"She is well known by generations of families who have attended the school and I am sure they will be able to recall a situation where Kath helped improve the quality of their lives in some way.

"Kath will now go through for a 'big bash' in London to announce the UK winner, at an event which will be televised on BBC2 in October."

Kathleen said: "I have thoroughly enjoyed my teaching career at Mostyn and Mary Immaculate High School over the past 44 years, especially the last 14 years, working with pupils with challenging issues and doing my best for them.

"I am now 65 and it is time for me to hang up my 'educational boots'. It saddens me to do so but nobody can go on forever.

"I have had an amazing career and all I ever wanted to do was the best for the thousands of pupils I have had before me and for them to realise that they are unique, have special talents and are able to fulfil their dreams just as I did.

"Special thanks to my headteacher Marc Belli, who nominated me for this prestigious award and my family – Tom my husband, and Heather and Lynette, my daughters – who have put up with my commitment to education and always given me the support to do what I was born to do."

Estyn's report on Barry school... 'YOU'RE LOOKING GOOD!'

IN the Estyn inspection report for Barry Comprehensive, the school achieved 'good' for the three key judgements of standards, provision and leadership.

The school's current performance was judged as 'good' and prospects for improvement also judged to be 'good'.

The report notes that students achieve well at KS4, make good progress in lessons with well-developed literacy skills; teaching is effective in helping students to learn; there is high-quality care, support and guidance for the most vulnerable students and the successful school parliament allows learners to influence a wide range of school life and work.

Inspectors commented that "most students listen and respond attentively to their teachers and to their peers. They speak clearly and thoughtfully when answering questions or expressing their opinions.

"When open-ended questions are used in learning, many pupils engage in creative discussions and produce imaginative responses… Many pupils read aloud with confidence, fluency and expression."

Inspectors also felt that: "Arrangements for developing pupils' understanding of education for sustainable development and global citizenship are strong".

The school's own self-evaluation systems were viewed as rigorous and robust, integrating a whole school approach.

The five students pictured, from years 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11, were asked what was the best part of Barry Comprehensive School.

Daley Chapman, year-7, enjoyed his drama, science and ICT lessons and felt that the curriculum supported his learning. Ameer Ihbasheh, year-8, enjoyed the large playing fields. Lewis Gibbon, year-9, talked about the way the teachers treat you and teach you. Mitchell Thorngate, year-10, described the family feel of the school and the relationships he enjoyed, whilst Curtis Rogers, year-11 said, simply, 'the students'.

Mr McNamara, headteacher, said: "This report verifies the commitment, diligence and determination of all the staff to get the very best out of every student.

"The school community has been rewarded for years of hard work leading up to the recent inspection. The school governors are delighted and are striving to provide the best teaching and learning experience for students to fulfil the school's motto of giving everyone the 'opportunity to succeed'."

May Fayre thanks

THE May Fayre held last Saturday in The Paget Rooms, Penarth, raised in excess of £1,500 for The Children's Society.

My thanks, on behalf of the society, to all who helped/donated and supported in any way – and also to The GEM for the advance publicity, without which the event would not be so successful.

New team is settling in at choral society

MEMBERS of Barry Choral Society are celebrating the first five months of 2013 under the successful direction of their new musical team.

Emma Arscott has moved from piano to podium – to become conductor of the choir. Emma (nee Cureton) is a Barry girl who after studying at Bryn Hafren Comprehensive School, went on to Trinity College, London, to study music, returning home to Barry after completing her degree.

Siân Davies, who has taken over the position of accompanist for the choir, is originally from Ferndale and is now living in North Cornelly.

She is the daughter of the late Bryan Davies, a much loved and missed accompanist, whose last performance, along with Siân, was a fundraiser for Barry Choral where £800 was raised.

Siân graduated from the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama having trained with Richard McMahon then went on to qualify as a teacher.

The choir have been learning a new repertoire and will be performing at St Mary's Church, Holton Road on June 9 and at Crossway Methodist Church on August 3 at 7pm (a joint venture with Barry Ladies Choir to raise money for Crossway Church).

It meets each Wednesday evening at Crossway Methodist Church, from 7.30pm to 9.30pm.

For more information, contact Emma on 07779594502.

Fatal crash: police appeal

POLICE have renewed an appeal for witnesses to a fatal collision that occurred at about 10pm on Friday, May 24 on the junction of Heol Las and Tre Pit Road, Monknash.

"A green Peugeot 206 car driven by 23-year-old local man Andrew Rhodri Thomas was found overturned and Andrew was pronounced deceased. His family is being supported by a police family liaison officer," a spokesperson said this week.

"Police also need to speak to all those who stopped to provide assistance and, in particular, need to trace the owner of a silver 4x4 type vehicle which was seen in the location around the time of the collision."

Anyone with information is asked to contact the South Wales Police serious collision investigation unit on 101 or Crimestoppers free and anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Penarth Ramblers in the steps of the Crusaders

HAVING safely negotiated the single track lanes through Llanthony, Capel-y-Ffin and the Gospel Pass in the stunning Vale of Ewyas, which contains the River Honddu, it was anyone's guess if the eight Penarth and District Ramblers who joined leaders Clive and Rachel would manage to beat the forecast heavy rain on Bank Holiday Monday.

Beginning from the stone circle car park at the base of Hay Bluff and ignoring the steep climb up the west face, they followed a gentler path overlooking the Craswall valley.

Reaching the ridgeway, huge flat stones formed a path before the group turned and made their way along the well worn path to the 677-metre trig point on Hay Bluff, the northernmost tip of the Black Mountains, with its clear views towards Hay-on-Wye.

Fighting against a strong wind, the ridge along Ffynnon y Parc led them to their descent into the valley floor and crossing the Gospel Pass, an ancient road named after the 12th third Crusade who passed through the area preaching and raising funds for the expedition, another climb lay ahead.

A small stone cairn marks the 689-metre summit of Twmpa and after enjoying the surrounding views, they sought some shelter in grassy hollows out of the brisk wind for a brief lunch, well aware that the sky was changing and the rain was on its way.

Continuing along the ridge, passing several families with small children, the wind hit them full in the face and it was a relief to begin the descent to Rhiw Wen, where they crossed open moorland as raindrops began to fall.

Reaching Caemarchog, a beautiful refurbished Welsh byre house with its perfect dry stone walls, the group dropped through a grassy path to a footbridge over the brook at Pennant Ford and passing two lovely old houses, entered farming land and fields full of sheep and lambs.

The group turned off near a sheep dip for the last climb of the day, having almost but not quite avoided the rain.

On June 8, meet at 8.30am at Cogan Leisure Centre for a 12-mile hard walk at Glasbury just southwest of Hay-on-Wye; contact Barrie on 029 2053 0753.

On June 9, meet at 9am at Cogan for a nine-mile moderate walk taking in the Llangattock tram roads; contact Joy on 01446 737131.

On June 13, the evening walk will leave Porthkerry church at 7pm for a visit to Rhoose Point and the southernmost tip of mainland Wales; contact Joy on 01446 737131.

School pupils maintain national walking trail

VALEWAYS, the local charity for Countryside Access and Walking, has recently received a grant from Environment Wales to purchase new equipment such as litter pickers, gloves, and clipboards to support the work they do in partnership with local communities.

A spokeswoman said: "We are fortunate in the Vale to have two national trails on our doorsteps: the first is our stretch of the All Wales Coastal Footpath, running from Cardiff Bay all the way to Ogmore. This is particularly spectacular as it includes the Heritage Coast and the seaside delights of Penarth and Barry Island.

"The second is the Millennium Heritage Trail (MHT), a 63-mile long circular walk through 6,000 years of the Vale's history that was researched, created and opened by Valeways volunteers to celebrate the Millennium in 2001 and has been in urgent need of a review to ensure free and safe access for all to enjoy.

"Therefore, Valeways is delighted to work in partnership with Barry Comprehensive School on the maintenance of Section 3 of the MHT trail that runs from Dyffryn southwards into Barry, up Highlight Lane, past Barry Boys Comprehensive School into Porthkerry Park.

"The boys also did a litter pick through Millwood in Porthkerry Park and collected an amazing amount of rubbish.

Valeways' volunteer Val Warlow commented on the boys' interest and enthusiasm and said they are well aware of the effect of non-degradable rubbish on the environment".

In early spring, groups of volunteers from Atlantic College were also taken out on several occasions to learn how to do and report on footpath surveys, do litter picks and clear some obstructions along a major part of the MHT.

If anyone else is interested as an individual or as a group in getting involved with Valeways projects, please contact Valeways on 01446 749000 or email info@valeways.org.uk for further details.

Group link with cadets

RECENTLY, young people from the Penarth Youth Project visited 2300 (St Athan) Air Training Corps, led by Tracy Downes and Humie Webb, as part of an independent charity providing services to young people aged 11 – 25.

In 2010, a new group called 'Peered Up' was set up for children with Aspergers Syndrome to socialise with others who have a similar condition.

The group visited the squadron, and after a personal guided tour of the building by Pilot Officer Brodie, everyone tucked into the buffet prepared by Leslie Harris.

The cadets mingled with the workers and young people, and exchanged stories about what each group does when they meet. The flight simulator proved very popular throughout the night, with the group getting the opportunity to fly on fighter jets and helicopters!

The squadron have been working closely with the youth group, with some of the cadets volunteering on the nights they meet.

2300 St Athan Squadron is recruiting. Contact the squadron on 01446 798684. Parade nights are Mondays and Wednesdays, 7pm – 9:30pm, boys and girls between 13 – 18 are welcome!

National Survey sounds positive note on Welsh health and education

LAST week, the results of the National Survey for Wales were published with some encouraging news about how people in Wales feel about our public services.

The survey reveals that people are very positive about the Welsh NHS and the quality of Welsh schools, but remain concerned about their ability to make ends meet financially.

The National Survey collects robust and detailed information on the views and experiences of people across Wales on a wide range of issues, involving face-to-face interviews with around 14,500 people each year. The overall rating for health was 6.4, education 6.4 and transport 6.0. (A rating of 10 is 'extremely good' and 0 'extremely bad').

People were also asked to rate their satisfaction with the Welsh Government and the average rating was 5.8, compared to an average score of 4.3 for the UK Government and an average of 3.8 for governments across Europe.

At a more detailed level, 96 per cent of people who saw a GP or had a hospital appointment agreed that they were treated with dignity and respect; 92 per cent were satisfied with the care they received from their GP at their last visit; and 90 per cent were satisfied with the care they received at their last hospital appointment.

If you look at findings for education, 92 per cent of parents were satisfied with the primary school their child attended, and 83 per cent were satisfied with their child's secondary school.

Internet use was also interesting with 73 per cent of households saying they had access to the internet – equating to approximately 79 per cent of people aged 18 or over having access to the internet at home.

In my response to the survey findings, I said that the Welsh Government would use these results to inform the development of our policies and the delivery of our public services.

This survey was published a week before the annual debate on the delivery of our programme of government, which was led by the First Minister, Carwyn Jones AM in a Welsh Government debate in the Senedd on Tuesday.

It is clear that the National Survey for Wales provides an opportunity for people to give their opinions on the issues that affect their lives.

We are committed to taking into account the views of people we serve and respond to all complaints and difficulties with care, respect and diligent attention.

The full results can be found on the Welsh Government website http://wales.gov.uk/topics/statistics/latest/?lang=en.

JANE HUTT, AM for the Vale, will be holding a surgery on Friday, June 7, from 4pm to 6pm at Trinity Church Hall, Trinity Street, Barry.

RAFA'S memorabilia appeal

THIS year, the Barry RAFAbranch celebrates its 75th anniversary – and its 50th as an individually-registered charity.

The branch, the oldest in Wales, was formed on November 14, 1938 when the construction of RAF St Athan brought personnel from all over the UK into the area.

In particular, a group of civilian instructors arrived who had been members of the Henlow and Hitchen branch.

They formed a branch known as the Cadoc, St Athan and Barry branch of The Comrades of the Royal Air Forces.

Members met at various locations, including No 2 Wing NAAFI reading room at St Athan, the Barry Hotel and the West End Labour Club.

As membership levelled off at the end of the war, the need for a permanent home became desirable.

The branch, now under the auspices of RAFA, purchased their headquarters, 21 Porthkerry Road, Barry, in March 1949, a former doctor's house and surgery.

After many alterations and furnishings, the branch HQ opened its doors to the licensed social club on August 1, 1949.

Regretfully, the social club closed in 2007, let for a year and renamed 'The Kerry Inn', but inevitably, the branch had to make the difficult decision and sold the building in March 2010.

According to records, the Barry Rafa Club also took over the organisation of the carnival from 1955 to 1958, and one of the prizes in a competition was an 8ft rock with 'Wings Week 1955' through the middle, donated by Alf Crane.

The Carnival Queen competition, held at Bindles, changed its name to 'Miss Wings'. By 1958 RAFA gave up organising the carnival and it lapsed into obscurity until its revival in the 1970s.

Throughout September an exhibition in the library will form part of the branch celebrations, with an 'open day' at King Square on September 7.

Numerous other events throughout the year are also planned.

Cadets stunned by horror of Nazi camps where Jews were murdered

AIR Cadets from 372 (Barry) Squadron recently experienced a six-day trip to Poland; the first visit by any Air Cadet Squadron in south Wales.

It began with an emotional and thought-provoking guided tour of Auschwitz-Birkenau, the symbol of terror and genocide.

Auschwitz-Birkenau, now a United Nations World Heritage site, was designed to give the cadets a greater understanding of the Holocaust and the lessons which should be learnt from history.

Auschwitz-Birkenau was the principal and most notorious of the six concentration and extermination camps established by Nazi Germany to implement its Final Solution policy, which had as its aim the mass murder of Jewish people in Europe.

The visit started with a guided tour of the Auschwitz concentration camp in the morning, followed by the Birkenau camp in the afternoon. The very cold weather and light snow during the day demonstrated the harsh conditions, combined with poor nutrition and hygiene, which led to high death rates among the prisoners; many not surviving longer than a couple of weeks in the camp.

The cadets visited Block 11, which was a 'prison within a prison', where violators of the rules were cruelly punished in 'standing' or 'starvation' cells. The cadets also saw some of the victims' belongings, including suitcases, shoes along with human hair.

The afternoon tour to the extermination camp of Auschwitz-Birkenau put into perspective murder on an industrial scale. The cadets saw at first hand the prisoner barracks, the unloading platform (ramp) where the process of selection took place – the point at which prisoners lived to work, or were immediately killed in the gas chambers.

Cadet Rachel Carbis said: "We saw at first-hand the place where over a million people were murdered. It was very hard to understand the cruelty which occurred at the Auschwitz and Birkenau camps, especially towards the Jews".

Cadet Steph Jones said: "I found the Auschwitz and Birkenau tours very emotional and it is very hard to understand what horrible events took place there".

The cadets visited the Kosciuszko mound, with magnificent views of Krakow and the Vistula river. The cadets also visited the Wieliczka salt mine with statues, chapels and an entire cathedral all carved out of the rock salt and the Polish Aviation museum with a large selection of Russian military aircraft as well as a Spitfire and Tiger Moth aircraft. The cadets had time to explore the Kazimierz Jewish district of Krakow.

The visit comprised a very busy few days. However, the cadets all felt that the visit was a worthwhile and a very emotional experience. Seeing at first-hand the place where over a million people were killed was an eye-opening experience, one which the cadets will always remember.

The cadets will now become ambassadors, giving 15-minute presentations to a variety of organisations about what they saw and learnt as a result of their experience. If any other groups or organisations would like to book a presentation, please use the contact details below.

The visit would not have taken place without the support of the Association of Jewish Refugees, Barry and Penarth Lions and Barry Town Council, who provided financial assistance to help the cadets..

The cadets who experienced this visit were: Rhys Thomas, Jake Paterson, Rachel Carbis, Megan Hamblin, Adam Wood, Ethan Bickford-Morgan, Curtis Hayes, Keiren Long, Anthony Thomas, Steph Jones, Sam Lazenbury, Toby Boss, Nathan Loxton, Jonathon Spragg and Jordan Saunders.

The cadets are now looking forward to an action packed summer programme of flying, gliding, shooting, adventure training, sport, sailing, expeditions, visits and camps.

If you have a spirit for adventure, 372 (Barry) Squadron have vacancies for boys and girls between 13 – 18 years old. The Squadron parade on Mondays and Wednesdays 7pm – 9.30pm behind Adams Funeral Parlour (by the Memorial Hall) or you can phone the Squadron on 01446 747734 or email oc.372@aircadets.org.

Vale Air Cadets' tough challenge on Patrol

AIR Cadets from across south Wales, including the Vale, recently took part in the gruelling Cadet Cambrian Patrol.

Cambrian Patrol was set up more than 40 years ago, by Welsh Territorial Army soldiers who designed the training event to feature long distance marching over the Cambrian Mountains, culminating in a shooting match on Sennybridge training area.

Since then, the exercise has been rigorously updated to meet the challenges faced by modern soldiers. The Cadet Patrol is a slightly downsized version of the full Patrol, but still incorporates challenging tests.

It was originally a competition between the ACF and CCF, but teams from No 1 Welsh Wing ATC and the SCC have been taking part as guests in recent years.

In preparation for this year's patrol, the cadets went through a rigorous training programme.

When asked if the training had prepared her for the Patrol, Sgt Hannah Gaskin (2300 (St Athan) Squadron) said: "The training definitely prepared me, though nothing could actually compare to the Patrol!"

This took place in the Brecon Beacons, renowned for its temperamental weather conditions.

The junior team, led by Sgt Chris Nunan (1344 (Cardiff) Squadron), were awarded a bronze medal.

Unfortunately, the senior team, led by FS Phil Campigli (1344 (Cardiff) Squadron), missed out on a bronze medal by only eight points.

'Island road a greater priority than housing'

LAST week, I joined a packed public meeting on Barry Island – to discuss the lack of development of a new access road to the Island.

The meeting, called by local residents Ian Bailey and Barrie Evans, was held at the Barry Island Sports and Social Club. The meeting considered the latest position and agreed that the five-year delay was completely unacceptable. Also in attendance were councillors Richard Bertin and Nic Hodges.

There was particular anger from residents that no-one from the Vale Council cabinet, or the Assembly, turned up.

Having met with the developers of 'The Quays' in the spring, I was alarmed to hear that they had offered to complete the access road all the way to Barry Island, but that the Vale Council had said that they should prioritise housing in its place.

As a result, the road may not be completed until 2017, or even later – possibly 2020.

Not one of the many residents and businesses who have contacted me on this issue has asked for the social housing development on the Island to take priority over the building of the new access road.

Access to Barry Island is key. Visitors and residents alike need to be able to get on and off the Island efficiently.

As GEM readers will be aware, I've called on the council and the Welsh Government to prioritise the new access road and to be clear in their reasons for not progressing the new build as a matter of urgency.

I was pleased that the Minister for Regeneration, visited Nell's Point last month. I trust he now better understands the importance and urgency of creating the new access road to the Island and the delivery of the Collins Report.

The developments would include an aquarium and family visitor centre. Important too is the need for further regeneration investment in Barry.

The delays are naturally inconvenient to residents and traders, but there are also more serious issues for all concerned. Access for emergency vehicles is a worry to everyone.

Only last week, the RNLI expressed concerns about getting to their base during busy summertime periods. They don't benefit from emergency sirens to get through the traffic.

I am desperately concerned that at peak traffic periods they are considering basing themselves at their station. This would have huge implications on their time commitment, remembering that most are volunteers.

This situation is wholly unacceptable and the Vale Council and Welsh Government must come up with a solution.

Simply delaying the housing and prioritising the access road would not cost the council a penny. Its construction is a condition of the development of 'The Quays' area. There could be an option of a 'loan facility' from the Welsh Government, but no firm offer has yet been made.

The developers are happy to pay for the new road. I simply don't understand why the council don't let them just do it.

Vale MP Alun Cairns reports to GEM readers

TOWN CENTRE STUDY GOES TO VALE COUNCIL

IN light of widespread concerns over the future of town centres, a report has been drawn up on the Vale's main towns.

It has examined ways of addressing opportunities and the challenges facing Barry (Holton Road and High Street), Barry (Broad Street), Penarth, Llantwit Major and Cowbridge, and was considered at a meeting of the Vale Council's cabinet.

"The Vale of Glamorgan Town Centre Framework assesses the strengths and weaknesses of each of the five town centres as part of the study," a council spokesperson explained.

"It also makes suggestions on how the town centres could become more attractive and successful destinations, which are enjoyed by residents, workers and visitors.

"The cabinet agreed to refer the report to the economy and environment scrutiny committee for information. It will also be shown to stakeholders for consideration.

"A stakeholder engagement event will be held in the near future and a feedback report on the event will be presented to cabinet," the spokesperson concluded..

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!
It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.
Branch Manager Phil Powell feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'
Cloudy2Clear service the Vale, Bridgend, RCT and Porthcawl areas and Phil is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

Prostate cancer: 'Wales will become backwater for treatment' – Tory claim

WELSH health Minister Mark Drakeford has insisted that men who need robotic surgery for prostate cancer are at liberty to apply for funding from the Welsh NHS to have the procedure carried out in England.

He was responding to a letter from a regional Tory AM, Byron Davies, who has backed a campaign launched by the Glaze Charity and Prostate Cymru.

At the moment, no centres in Wales have the robotic surgery equipment, which costs £1.7m, although 42 hospitals in England do have this equipment.

Mr Davies, a Welsh Conservative regional AM for South Wales West, is urging the Welsh Government to purchase this equipment and claimed that Welsh men were being "short-changed" at present.

"In England, men can have this treatment for nothing under the NHS, but if a Welsh patient goes over the border, he is given a bill for £18,000.

"That's because the Welsh Government has refused to fund it, apart from the case of one patient.

"This is leading to a two-tier health service in the UK with Wales on the bottom rung," he insisted.

"It's all very well for Mark Drakeford to say that patients can apply for special funding, he knows that just about every application for this treatment has failed.

"He does say that technology has a major role to play in health treatment and that organisations in Wales have been invited to apply for funding.

"It is my understanding that Cardiff and the Vale University Health Board is to apply for funding to provide the first robot surgical equipment in Wales at The Heath.

"I sincerely hope that the funding for this will be provided via the Health Technology Fund. This robot can be used for other types of surgery as well as prostate so potentially, it can benefit a lot of patients.

"If the application is refused, Wales will become a backwater in the treatment of prostate cancer and we will fail to attract high calibre doctors to this speciality.

"They will rightly conclude that their careers cannot advance as they should if they are unable to undertake these procedures," Mr Davies concluded.

SHADOWS CLUB

ON June 11 at Penarth Conservative Club, Stanwell Road (029 2030 9979) South Wales Shadows Club 8pm; usually £3. All are welcome.

Film gives the young film makers a Shout

SINCE March, a group of film enthusiasts in Barry have been working together to create an original storyline and make it into a short film.

This task has been part of the 'It's My Shout', scheme which has gone from strength to strength since 2003, offering creative talent the opportunity to learn new skills and to get 'on the job' experience relative to the media industry.

The Barry group's work has been overseen throughout by producers Katy Ruffy and Victoria Stephens, on behalf of the 'It's My Shout' company.

Director of photography for the film was Mei Lewis of Mission Photographic, and the script contributions were coordinated by scriptwriter Alex Reynolds of Newport. Facilities and general support were provided by the media department of Barry's YMCA Hub.

The storyline follows the effect that dementia has on a small family, though it does conclude with a possibly life affirming experience. The script was developed from a series of improvisation sessions. A group of individuals when they started off , they quickly became a team, and all offered many suggestions towards creating an interesting storyline.

Assistant director Anne Marie Gardiner tells us that she: "really enjoyed taking part and finding out all the work that goes into making even a short film."

Joe Barker (sound) learned a lot about location sound acquisition: "But one of the highlights for me was during a visit to the BBC Roath Lock studios when I was allowed to stand on the control deck of the new Tardis – it was absolutely huge!!"

Nigel Streeter, one of the main actors, says: "This project brought together a group of people all interested in different aspects of the film industry. It was a great learning experience – hard work but good fun."

The short film 'I'm Here' that was produced is presently in final post-production and it is hoped to have its premiere showing at the Barry Hub on Saturday June 22 at 7pm.

For those who are interested in film making, 'It's My Shout' will shortly be moving into its summer project, making six films for BBC Cymru/ Wales.

WHAT IS GLAUCOMA?

EXPERTS at Age Concern UK have issued advice and information about Glaucoma.

Glaucoma is one of the most common causes of preventable blindness. It can be picked up as part of a normal eye test and once treatment starts, its progress can be halted.

Here, Age Concern explains what glaucoma is and how it affects your sight, how certain groups of the population are at particular risk, the simple tests that can lead to its detection, and the treatments you may be offered.

Treatment cannot reverse damage already done and is likely to be necessary for the rest of your life… but sight can be protected if it is picked up in time.

What is it?

Glaucoma is the name of a group of eye conditions that affect vision. Of the many types of glaucoma, chronic glaucoma is the most common.

It usually affects both eyes but can start in one eye before the other.

Often in chronic glaucoma, the pressure in the eye is higher than it should be and over time this causes damage to the optic nerve at the back of the eye.

The optic nerve carries visual information from the light sensitive part of the eye to the brain, where it is translated into a picture. Damage to the optic nerve can affect sight.

Why does it occur?

The eye produces a fluid (aqueous fluid) that helps maintain the shape of the eyeball and transports nutrients to the eye.

This fluid is produced by cells behind the coloured part of the eye (the iris) and is not the same as the fluid that forms tears.

Normally the amount of fluid produced is balanced by the amount draining away through special drainage channels.

In glaucoma, the balance between the production and draining away of fluid may not be correct. If the fluid doesn't drain away properly, then eye pressure can build up and damage the optic nerve.

Why some eyes don't deal with the balance of fluid properly, is still not clear. Glaucoma is problematic, as it is not painful and there are no symptoms until it is really advanced.

It usually starts by affecting side vision (peripheral vision). The subject often doesn't notice this, as the brain can compensate for a large amount of this part of vision being affected.

Considerable damage can be done to side vision before the subject realises, so it is important to have regular eye checks that include checks for glaucoma.

Needless blindness: How it can be avoided

CHRONIC glaucoma affects two per cent of the population over the age of 40, increasing to over 10 per cent for those aged 75 or more.

There are about 500,000 people in Wales and England with glaucoma, and about 70 million worldwide, making it one of the leading causes of blindness.

Unfortunately, there are no symptoms until extensive irreversible damage to the optic nerve has occurred resulting in unrecoverable vision loss, and it is estimated that up to 50 per cent of people with glaucoma are undiagnosed.

Frustratingly, needless blindness from glaucoma can be easily averted as it can often be treated with simple eye drops. The key to successful treatment is early diagnosis.

To increase your chance of being diagnosed early, you should have a sight test at least every two years – or more frequently if you have a first degree relative with glaucoma.

There are three basic tests used to screen for glaucoma, and for some patients it may be available on the NHS; for others, there will be a charge.

Even then, a basic sight test can often only detect glaucoma when substantial nerve damage has already occurred.

Fortunately, at Jones & Jones Optometrists, Dr Adrian Jones is one of only a handful of optometrists in the UK who holds a specialist qualification in the diagnosis and management of glaucoma.

After spending almost a decade in specialist clinics at the University Hospital of Wales in Cardiff and Bristol Eye Hospital, he has a wealth of knowledge and clinical expertise.

Dr Jones is able offer a gold standard glaucoma diagnostic service and comprehensive ongoing aftercare.

If you are concerned about the possibility of glaucoma, Jones & Jones Optometrists on High Street Street in Barry have dedicated glaucoma diagnostic and management clinics.

CARERS WEEK 10-16 June 2013

IMPROVING THE LIVES OF CARERS AND THE PEOPLE THEY CARE FOR

'BOBBIES ON CALL' ARE OFF TO A FLYING START!

CO-DIRECTORS and namesakes Bob Evans and Bob McAlister are delighted with the response to the initial wave of advertising and publicity in The GEM, for their newly-launched 'Bobbies on Call' (BOC) venture – which has been up and running in the Vale of Glamorgan and surrounding areas for just four weeks.

Bob Evans said: " We have yet to meet anyone who has told us that this offer of on- call support and practical help is anything other than a great idea. The formula of having former police and emergency service workers at your call, has really grabbed the imagination and it seems to fill a void in people's lives.

"We are not seeking to replace anything that is there already for people, in terms of support, but our callers show that there was a gap.

"The positive feedback has been very welcome, as it confirms that our instincts for the business were correct."

Co-founder Bob McAlister commented: "I can't tell you how touched I was when one lady – our very first customer – said on receiving her first catch up call with the team: 'I really feel that knowing there is someone at the end of the phone for me, has made a difference to my life already.'

"When you leave the force, you tend to miss certain parts of the job, but now being back in the role of helping people has replaced some of that job satisfaction. If our business can continue to do that for others, then that suits us all," he added.

Bob Evans from Penllyn, Cowbridge, began his career in 1980 at the age of 17, rising through the ranks of South Wales Police and retiring with the rank of Assistant Chief Constable.

'Bobbies On Call' is a subscription-based service available on a 24-hours a day, seven-days a week call line for household maintenance problems.

Staffed by teams of retired police officers and emergency services staff, it incorporates a range of practical support services, from minor crisis resolution, handyman support and house minding to crime prevention advice, chauffeuring and general companionship.

Bob McAlister, who also held a senior position at South Wales Police, said 'Bobbies On Call' suits those people who live alone and may not always have reliable help close to hand.

"We've set up the service as we want to put our knowledge and dependability to good use," he explains.

"With many years service apiece, there is very little that 'Bobbies On Call' personnel haven't encountered and dealt with calmly and efficiently."

Adds Bob Evans: "Our hand-picked staff understand that day-to-day concerns can prevent those who live alone from enjoying their home and sense of well-being.

"Cold-callers, rogue traders, worrying if your property is safe and secure – are all issues that can cause anxiety. Then there are the day-to-day niggles people wish were sorted out – from a light fitting that needs fixing – to help making sense of a utilities bill or contract."

Both Bobs believe that just knowing there is someone at the end of the phone who can call round and help out can make all the difference. They are confident elderly people will come to rely on a service which asks that they 'Call Bob'.

Even in these early stages, it seems that the Vale is seeing the value of the services offered by their 'two Bobs'.

*For more information about all the services offered by the Bobs and their team, call the dedicated line on 01446 656789, or visit www.bobbiesoncall.com.

"I wanted to have someone at the end of the phone I knew I could rely on."

CARERS WEEK 10-16 June 2013

IMPROVING THE LIVES OF CARERS AND THE PEOPLE THEY CARE FOR

CARERS' WEEK QUESTION..

Can the UK cope with rising carer numbers?

ACROSS the UK, the number of people caring, unpaid, for a family member or friend who is ill, frail, and disabled, has now risen to 6.5 million.

Every day, at least 6,000 people start caring. Becoming a carer can impact significantly on a person's life – it takes time, energy, can leave you isolated, and can be costly.

Prepared to Care?* – the 2013 Carers' Week campaign – will focus on how the UK's current carer population is coping, how effectively the Government is supporting the growing numbers of carers, and whether the wider population is prepared for future caring responsibilities.

Through Prepared to Care? Carers' Week will highlight the impact of caring on daily life and, with an ageing population and higher incidence of disability and serious illness, encourage the public to think whether they could manage a caring role.

Prepared to Care?* will also help those already caring to make sure they are accessing all the practical and emotional support they need to care safely and look after themselves.

A new report to be published for Carers' Week will highlight to Government the changes required to improve the lives of carers and the people they care for.

From June 10-16, 2,000 organisations will be involved in 10,000 Carers' Week Prepared to Care? events.

Keep up to date with campaign developments at: www.carersweek.org, www.facebook.com/carersweek, Twitter @carersweek.

CARERS – KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

A CARER is someone who looks after a relative, friend or neighbour who is unable to manage at home without help.

This may be because they are elderly, disabled by physical or mental ill health, have a learning disability, drug or alcohol problem, or have a long term illness. The care they give is unpaid.

In the current economic climate, it is more important than ever that carers know their rights and access the help and support that is available to them.

Information and advice is available to assist with benefit claims, to get practical support, such as a break from caring, and to find out how technology can help them.

It is a fact that many carers do not recognise themselves as carers and do not know what help is available, even when they have been caring for years.

A carers assessment from your local council will identify if there is any support or services a carer needs to help them in their caring role.

Additional practical or emotional support may be available from local charities, organisations and support groups, which is why people need to find out what can be provided.

A directory of services for carers and other information for carers is available from local information sources in the Vale such as Citizens Advice Bureau, GP surgeries, libraries and other health and social care services.

Local charity salutes volunteers

DURING National Volunteers' Week (June 1–7) Guide Dogs Cymru is thanking its 500 Welsh volunteers – puppy walkers and boarders, drivers and charity box collectors, who donate time to help blind and partially sighted people enjoy freedom of movement.

GEM readers may have spotted Hilary Williams of Porthcawl taking guide dogs for a run on Newton Beach.

As a volunteer boarder, she makes sure that when their owners go on holiday, the dog enjoys a break, too.

She said: "Being a boarder is rewarding and enjoyable. It gives me and my husband Alan all the advantages of having a dog without the demands of actual ownership.

If anyone would like to volunteer for Guide Dogs Cymru, contact 0845 372 7405 or email Steve.Kersley@guidedogs.org.uk

Mrs Llewellyn, Jane Hutt AM, Ceri Llewellyn and Brian West.

ALL Care (S Wales) Ltd is celebrating 20 years of providing care in the community.

The company was founded by Mr Jeremy Llewellyn in 1993 and was originally run from a small office at the nursing home he also owned.

All Care provides domiciliary care in the community to the Vale of Glamorgan, and has also expanded to cover Cardiff, providing care – from 15-minute calls to 24-hour packages.

Over the past 20 years, All Care has held ISO accreditation and Investors In People awards.

The staff have scooped care awards for the last five years.

To celebrate this milestone, a party was arranged for the staff, service users and dignitaries.

The celebrations included long service awards for staff who have been with the company for 10 years or more, a buffet and entry into a free raffle for all who attended.

"We would like to thank all of our staff and supporters who have been a vital part in our journey to this important milestone," the company stated.

Decision time for retiring Baby-Boomers

MANY people reaching retirement age are desperately in need of professional, independent financial advice.

Normally, once you've made the decision of how to take your retirement income, it is very hard – almost impossible – to undo, so making the right decision is crucial.

The many options available are affected by your own personal circumstances – do you take what's on offer from the existing pension provider (you don't have to!) and,if so, does this provide for you and your spouse's future plans?

Poor health history, eg raised blood pressure, or certain lifestyle choices, such as being a smoker, mean that you are likely to qualify for a higher lifelong income.

A simple and short meeting with an independent financial advisor will quickly establish your options and see how possible it is to get close to your desired financial future.

Most IFAs will conduct this initial meeting at their cost, as they need to establish whether they are able to help or not.

If they do help, you can elect to pay their fee directly, or choose to use your pension to cover the cost of this invaluable service.

PROTECTING WEALTH FOR THE FUTURE GENERATIONS

NEW statistics show that while wealth is cascading down the generations like never before, the taxation on it has increased significantly.

An example of this is the Inheritance Tax allowance being frozen at £325K, bringing an estimated 5,000 estates into the Inheritance Tax net. There are many uses of wills and trusts that can help achieve protection of your estate for generations to come.

However, to be effective, you need to be proactive.

The initial consultation is at our expense – we speak your language and come to you.

Stamping out Vale 'litter bugs'

LITTER comes in many forms, from dog fouling, to chewing gum, fast food wrappers, drinks cans/bottles, flyers – the list goes on.

It is an offence to litter and there are council enforcement compliance officers patrolling the Vale, who are watching for potential offenders.

However, the team cannot be everywhere all the time. The council's waste management and cleansing team members, like Phil Grant and Mike Perret, are keen to stamp out littering.

The Vale Council's cabinet member for the environment and visible services, Coun Rob Curtis, said: "In public places, we have to provide a team who litter pick – often seven days a week.

"Clearly, we would rather be spending money on different areas of our service provision.

"Littering is a crime. While most residents and visitors are respectful, some flaunt the law – which is clearly unacceptable on many levels."

New biofuels causing havoc for farmers and Aga users

NEW biofuels used in gas oil (red diesel) are causing havoc for farmers across Wales – according to independent oil distribution company Oil 4 Wales.

Understandably, everyone's first reaction is to blame quality of fuel delivered by their oil distributor.

However, because of the new EU requirement for lower sulphur levels in a bid to reduce engine emissions, the UK's gas oil specification was changed in 2011, causing major problems for those in the agricultural sector.

Sulphur was removed from fuel, removing the fuel's natural lubricating properties, and biofuels were added to a maximum of 7 per cent.

The main problem affecting farmers due to the increased proportion of biofuels in gas oil, is water pick-up.

Biofuels are hydroscopic and attract water, which builds up in tanks – causing engine damage, increased tank deposits, bug contamination, rough running, haze (water in suspension), layering and filter blocking problems.

To combat these problems, farmers are encouraged to include an additive such as Exocet Gas Oil Extra to their fuel as a matter of course.

It is not just farmers who are experiencing difficulties. Homeowners with oil-fired Agas and Rayburns that use kerosene are also exposed to the problem.

In the UK, there are fewer refineries producing kerosene than in recent years, causing a supply issue.

The high percentage of kerosene now being imported is of much more variable fuel quality.

This variable quality is not the fault of the UK fuel distributors, as they can only sell what they can load from the UK distribution points.

While the oil being distributed still meets the relevant British Standard (BS2869 Class G), it is much higher than Aga's recommended char value of 4-7, which is why many are said to be caking up with soot, and in some cases conking out.

Owners of these oil-fired cookers are again encouraged to put a fuel additive, such as Exocet, into their oil to reduce the char value. A bottle of Exocet, which costs £20, treats 1,000 litres of kerosene.

As part of its commitment to the farming community of Wales, Oil 4 Wales has introduced a special offer for the silage season.

For every order of gas oil above 1,000 litres, farmers can request that Exocet Gas Oil Extra (worth £23 per litre) is added to their oil, which will be done free of charge.

The offer is valid between June and the end of August. Exocet Gas Oil Extra must be requested at the time of order, so the correct dosage can be added to the fuel.

Oil 4 Wales is a family-run independent oil distribution company working with the community for the community.

The benefits of meditation

HAVE you ever wondered why meditation has been shown to improve all aspects of health?

This is to do with the difference between the two sides of our brain:

The left brain keeps us safe by working out what has happened before and what might happen in the future. We engage our left brain when we worry.

The right brain deals with the now and carries the blueprint for health.

When we meditate, we switch off our left brain and allow our right brain to keep us healthy.

It has been shown to normalise blood pressure, reduce stress, improve digestion and promote restful sleep.

Health Conscious is now offering Meditation for Health sessions on Wednesday evenings at 6.30pm.

Hypnotherapy can help boost your self-belief

ISN'T it interesting that we are all born having confidence? Often the effect of life experiences can dent our self-belief.

If left unchecked, this may cause us to have difficulties ranging from exams, job interviews and public speaking to being unable to stand up for yourself; relationship problems, or feeling incapable of going after the things you want in life.

Confidence can be an underlying factor for weight problems or phobias.

Unfortunately, when we don't have appropriate confidence in our abilities it can lead to low self-esteem and a negative view of the future, as well as feelings of anxiety.

Fortunately, solution-focused hypnotherapy can help to reduce and eliminate anxiety and work with your subconscious mind – to reawaken your natural confidence, optimism and motivation to succeed; and to help you go after those things in life which are important to you.

The rise and rise of Goose Island

PROPRIETOR Karen Hutchings first experienced the fashion potential of Balinese products on a visit in 1993, and she knew she had to share these riches with everyone at home in the UK. Goose Island was born in 1994.

Bali has since been the main inspiration for Goose Island, and both Karen and her husband Peter travel to Bali, and also India, on a regular basis to source products – ensuring that all production complies with Fair Trade regulations.

All of their clothing, jewellery and accessories are handmade under fair and ethical conditions.

Karen and Peter have built their vibrant, popular Cowbridge business by taking great pride in the quality and beauty of their products, resulting in the Goose Island label now being sold throughout the UK and Europe.

Their helpful, professional staff complete this winning team.

Dull, mundane and lacking in laughs...

This is one Hangover you won't want to suffer through!

by GARETH JAMIESON
Follow Screen Talk on Twitter – @GEMScreenTalk

THE third part of a trilogy or franchise is never easy to get right, as the likes of Sam Raimi, Chris Nolan (amongst others) can all attest.

It's even more difficult in the world of comedy – just see American Wedding, the third American Pie film, or even Police Academy: Back In Training for a crash course in comedies going wrong.

For The Hangover Part 3, the gang return on the back of huge box office (perhaps a driving factor in the film's greenlighting) and sees the 'Wolfpack' of Alan (Zach Galifianakis), Stu (Ed Helms) and Phil (Bradley Cooper) forced into a mission to find Chow (Ken Jeong) after he steals $21million from Marshall (John Goodman), a mission that will be nowhere near straightforward...

Despite part two of this franchise being a carbon copy of the first, I personally found it very funny, undemanding fun that played up the good nature of the first film, while adding drama and scale.

It is sad to report, then, that The Hangover Part 3 is one of the least amusing films I've seen in recent memory, an exercise in milking a cash cow before it goes dry and film fans flock to something else.

The legacy of the first film is one still being felt, as studios are even now jumping on the coattails, making comedies that push excess to the limits, but this outing is a huge disappointment, eschewing the puzzle piece narrative that made the first two films enjoyable for a straightforward story that moves along at a predictable rate of knots.

The sense of not knowing just where you were going to end up next was the franchise's key calling card, but by framing the story in such a simplistic and linear fashion, it means that any sense of shock and surprise is lacking; it also pushes more weight onto the comedy which is, itself, very poor.

Written by director Todd Phillips and Craig Mazin, they not only fail to create any memorable comedy moments, nor anything to really make you laugh out loud; instead the plot moves in slightly darker circles that make laughs an awkward proposition (particularly an incident with a cockerel and a pillow).

They also reduce the characters to almost nothing, Stu and Phil having no defining characteristics at all, and put too much weight on characters like Alan and Chow that while very funny in fits and starts, just can't hold the film on their shoulders.

Chow is a divisive character anyway, pleasing in small doses – but here, put centre stage, his comedic potential diminishes the more we see of him – and the same applies to Alan, whose man-child schtick is again amusing but loses power as the film goes on.

The cast try, with Zach Galifianakis again shining the brightest, but in a role that feels excessively familiar now, but both Bradley Cooper and Ed Helms look decidedly bored with the whole thing, Jeong is a grating presence, and only Melissa McCarthy brings some life to proceedings as a pawn shop clerk taken by Alan.

It's a shame that such an exciting and funny film series has ended on such a downer, but it's hardly surprising given how the longer these things run the lower the quality tends to get; as it is, The Hangover Part 3 is something that not even the strongest painkiller could make better.

VERDICT: Painfully unfunny, predictable and mundane, The Hangover Part 3 is a disappointing conclusion to the franchise. With the cast either too much or not given enough, and a script that dispenses with clever twists for more straightforward storytelling, this is one Hangover not worth suffering through! Poor.

SEE THIS IF YOU LIKED: The Hangover (2009), Project X (2012).

SHAKE! two charity walkers complete Welshcoast marathon

Long distance walkers, Charlie and Al, are pictured at Wye Bridge.

LAST Friday, saw the end of a marathon 870-mile charity walk covering the whole of the Wales Coastal Path.

Two hardened walkers, Charlie Blackwell (64) and Sandy Monkman from Derby, set out on April 25 in north east Wales, aiming to raise funds for St Luke's Hospice in Sheffield, and completed the final stage at Wye Bridge, Chepstow.

During the walk, they stayed in many towns and villages along the route, including Llantwit Major and Penarth.

In Penarth they met up with former town mayor, Coun Anthony Ernest.

"Charlie and Al achieved a marvellous result in covering the entire path end to end. I know that they have been able to attract a large sum for their chosen charity. Probably they are amongst the very first to actually walk the entire route, and possibly act as pathfinders for future similar charitable walks," he commented.

WHEN the group Cardiff Canine Citizens organised the South Wales Dog Charity Fun Day last year at Fonmon Castle, things went so well that they came back again this year, on bank holiday Monday, May 27.

Many local charities made an appearance, including the Dogs Trust and Guide Dogs for the Blind (pictured right).

Dog lovers from far and wide came along to browse the many stalls, and to show off their family pets on a fine day out!

VOLUNTEERS CAN SUPPORT CARERS

CARERS WEEK (June 10–16) follows on from National Volunteers Week, and the Vale Volunteer Bureau (VVB) has been busy celebrating the contributions that volunteers make in the Vale.

Carers often give up their time voluntarily and their contribution to individuals and communities should be acknowledged.

Many of the voluntary organisations which the VVB helps, recruit volunteers to provide additional care for individuals and carers themselves.

Natalie Sargent, deputy director of the VVB, said: "We recruit for many of the partners in Carers Week, including: Age Concern; Marie Curie Cancer Care; Multiple Sclerosis Society; Macmillan Cancer Support and the Stroke Association.

"All have volunteering roles in the Vale to help support someone in need.

"These roles vary – from driving, to café assistant or befriender, to activity volunteer.

"We would actively encourage anyone interested in a career in the care sector, or who has an hour or two to spare, to consider volunteering."

The VVB has a drop-in centre at 34, Holton Road, in Barry, open Monday to Friday, 10am–4pm.

Also, its new office next to the Post Office on Boverton Road in Llantwit Major is open every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and last Saturday of each month, from 10am–2pm.

Sully author claims People's Book Prize

RIGHT: Eileen Younghusband, whose book, One Woman's War, helped her win the People's Book Prize.

CANDY JAR Books has announced that Sully author Eileen Younghusband has been named winner of The People's Book Prize in the non-fiction 2012/2013 category.

The prize is open to published authors and judged solely by the public. The annual event presented its first awards in 2010, following the death of its founding patron, Dame Beryl Bainbridge DBE.

With Eileen's proud victory came another day of celebration when she attended a Buckingham Palace garden party to receive her British Empire Medal (BEM).

As reported previously in The GEM, her book, One Woman's War reveals the truth about forgotten wartime women, barely out of their teens, who were employed in the Filter Rooms of RAF Fighter Command in the defence of Britain: "I dedicate this award to all of them," Eileen said.

For her next project, Eileen will release a book entitled Men I have Known – a chronicling of her various encounters in 91 years with many men of the world, including Dylan Thomas, Idi Amin and Rex Harrison.

MORGAN PAINTS THE TON RED AS DEFLATED WANDERERS RUE THEIR MISSED CHANCES

IF ever there was a game that the Wanderers thought they had won, then this was it; however, they were left to rue what could have been against Ton Pentre as they scratched their heads, and doffed their sweaty baggy greens, in defeat.

The story began at 1.30pm as Ridgwell strode to the wicket, won the toss and elected to bat. All seemed serene as Budkin and Barnes kept the openers at bay with consummate efficiency.

Budkin was unlucky to depart, playing on for 21 and Ridgwell hit a quickfire 13 before being bowled between bat and pad.

Barnes, looking scratchy early on, was beginning to look more confident and it was he and Coleman who were the fulcrum of the innings.

Coleman as ever looked to push the run rate up but Barnes was disappointed to depart for 47 as he looked set for a long innings, and when Davies was adjudged lbw first ball, the medium order capitulation set in. Gallagher, Denning and Ellis all failed to support Coleman and a total over 240 was now disappointly out of reach.

Phil Wolfenden again played a great cameo in what is becoming a familiar role for the number 9. Coleman sauntered past 50 and the Wanderers finished their innings on 210 for 7, probably just under par for a ground with a large quick outfield.

Luke Denning produced a magnificent opening spell with the ball and first out was the dangerous Thomas, who has a league double ton to his name, who was excellently caught by Andy Gallager at mid on.

Denning then proceeded to bowl the next three batsmen and when Theo Richards joined the party and had Hopkins caught by Coleman in the gully, the Wanderers sensed a quick win.

When Morgan came out to bat his team looked down and out and had Wolfenden taking a catch behind when Morgan was on 0, the result would have been very different.

Alas, this was not to be and Morgan looked to build on his good fortune. With Morgan the senior partner and Moon hanging around, the pair began to rebuild the innings.

The Wanderers were not too perturbed at this stage and at drinks the home side were 103 for 7, with still over half the total to get.

Morgan then switched on the gas and was particularly ruthless on anything short, with two sixes going over the pavillion and onto the football pitch.

Ellis and Ridgwell could do nothing as Gallagher plugged away gallantly to keep scoring to four an over at his end. Morgan was by now taking the majority of the strike and was turning down singles in readiness of the bad ball being bowled.

A plethora of wides did not help the Wanderers' cause as Ellis had one of his off days.

With the total on 188 and the Wanderers looking forlorn, the game took a surprising turn when Moon was caught idling and Budkin swooped to run him out for 26.

This gave the Wanderers side much needed impetus and the game hung in the balance, with 21 runs needed for the home side and two wickets needed for the Wanderers.

Morgan, having now passed his ton, was looking to finish the game off and hit Ridgwell for a huge six to leave his side needing eight going into the penultimate over. Ellis was given the task, with Gallagher having bowled out, and the change of ends helped as Morgan sent one to long on.

Ieuan Wade made the ground but unfortunately the ball slipped through his hands and the game was effectively over. Ridgwell bowled the last over and it was aptly left to Morgan to hit the winning runs and finish on 134 not out.

The only consolation was that the Wanderers yet again picked up high scoring losing points for their batting display and Ridgwell can be heartened with the fact that they took a strong Ton Pentre side to the wire.

The disappointment was that the game was there to be won, but hopefully a win is just around the corner as they host Newport III's at Hayes Point this Saturday.

BWCC Dow Corning man of the match was Luke Denning for his 6 - 27.

THE SOOTY SHOW SWEEPS IN TO TOWN

After a disappointing couple of results on Saturday in the league the Wanderers SO (Sunday Aficionados) XI looked to restore some pride with a win against old foes Cynon Valley.

It has been a few years since the Wanderers hosted Cynon Valley and it was great to renew rivalries. Skipper Coleman, after much deliberation, decided to bat and the hosts were soon in trouble as Wade missed a straight one for 0 and Downey was caught for 4.

With Fenton having a rare off day with the bat and departing for a duck, it was left to easy rider Wolfenden to see off the opening bowlers along with Norman, who was fresh from his 50 the previous week.

At 59 for 4 it was time for consolidation and Ellis provided an able partner for Norman. The duo kept the scoreboard ticking over until Grant Buckingham (playing for the opposition) forced Norman into an error as he scooped one to square leg for 28.

Coleman, coming off his unbeaten 50 the previous day, managed to have an unbelievable escape on 0 as he under edged a cut onto his stumps but as luck would have it the bails did not move.

He made the most of his luck as he then set about playing an aggressive innings of savage shots along with excellent running between the wickets. The score moved past the 100 in the 26th over and Ellis, having scratched around for 25, was caught in the slips brilliantly by Jones.

Coleman now stepped up the pace and one over he hit four fours in a row. Morgan produced an entertaining knock with a hook out that scorched to the boundary for four. He was now in the zone and at the end of the 40 overs he was unbeaten at the crease on 88, with the final wicket falling on 181.

The Cynon Valley reply started briskly with A Jones particularly punishing on anything loose from Theo Richards and Sam Harris, the five wicket hero from last week.

With the ball hitting the boundary board on a regular basis, the score soon moved past 50 before the evergreen Dave Morgan swooped on a ball and ran out the opener with dead eye accuracy.

It was now time for the old timer to bowl from the Ty Hafan end and he bowled eight excellent overs, taking two wickets for 18 runs. A caught and bowled by Morgan gave him a 'royal flush' of catches, wickets, run outs and runs.

Alun Wade toiled away from the hospital end with no luck so it was time for the Stealey and Ellis show to take over. Ellis' first ball got rid of the dangerous Jones as he was bowled for 84 and the game swung back in favour of the Wanderers when Ellis bowled Mraczak for 16 in his next over, leaving Cynon Valley reeling on 128 for 7.

Stealey produced the ball of the match to dispose of Powell lbw for 11 and when he bowled Haynes for 7, only one more wicket was required. Ellis duly obliged and as the ball was scooped by young Lewis Downey at cover the game was over and the Sunday side had won yet again by 30 runs.

A great all-round performance from the Wanderers with all players contributing to a marvellous day of cricket. For a great knock of 88 not out and superb captaincy, Peter Coleman took the Dow Corning player of the match award.

UNDER-11s WIN LAST BALL THRILLER AGAINST COWBRIDGE

The Barry Wanderers under-11s travelled to the lovely setting of Cowbridge on Monday night to play their match against Cowbridge under-11s.

Ewan, captain for the evening, won the toss and elected to put the hosts into bat. The sun was shining and the game was set with a good crowd in attendance.

Barry Wanderers bowled very well with Jacques bowling a nice line and length and Luke also bowling well. Mark took his first wicket, bowling the Cowbridge opener out.

With Thierry and Guy marshalling the offside with some smart stops there were no boundaries in the first 10 overs. Nat did well behind the stumps and Mark also covered well at long stop. Jack (our guest bowler for the night) took a vital wicket and at the end of the innings Cowbridge had scored a respectable 236.

In reply Jacques set off like a steam train hitting five 4s in a cameo innings of 24. Some of his shots sped to the boundary on the fast outfield and Jacques got the Wanderers off to a flyer.

Guy and Thierry did well with Thierry hitting a lovely four off the back foot. Mark, Ewan and Nat did incredibly well to not lose their wicket.

With the final four overs to bowl, the game was finely in the balance. Wanderers were ahead of the scoring rate but a couple of loose shots from Luke Grant put Cowbridge back in the game.

Sian bowled superbly for Cowbridge in the last but one over to put the game back in their favour and as the sun was setting for the last over it was all to play for.

The scenario was seven needed off the last over. Two wides and a single meant that Wanderers needed two off the last ball to win.

With Luke on strike, he cut the ball majestically to the boundary for four and the away supporters leapt to their feet in jubilant celebration.

Thanks go to Cowbridge for their excellent hospitality and the Wanderers will be happy that their best performance of the season resulted in a win.

Barry Wanderers man of the match – Luke Grant.

Cadets make a splash in kayak training

Georgina Poulakis trying archery.

RECENTLY, Air Cadets from 372 (Barry) Squadron joined other Welsh cadets in a multi-activity day at Cosmeston Lakes – including mountain biking, archery, kayaking and climbing wall activities.

The cadets were given a detailed safety brief before having a go at the each activity. The kayaking, in particular, brought howls of laughter from spectators watching the cadets immersed in the icy cold water as part of their capsize drill training.

Cadet Bethan Williams said: "Kayaking was amazing, I thought I would capsize all the time, but after a bit of practice it was easy, fun and I can't wait to do it again."

After the kayaking, the cadets experienced the 60 foot mobile climbing wall, improving their skills before abseiling back down.

Cadet Toby Boss said: "Climbing was really cool. I enjoyed both the climbing and the abseiling; the views from the top were great."

Later, cadets took to the more challenging paths and tracks around Cosmeston, to test their mountain biking skills, before ending with archery.

The cadets taking part from 372 Squadron were Bethan Williams, Rhys Thomas, Toby Boss, Georgina Poulakis and Zena Poulakis.

If you have a spirit for adventure, 372 (Barry) Squadron have vacancies for boys and girls between 13-18 years old. The Squadron parade on Mondays and Wednesdays 7pm-9.30pm behind Adams Funeral Parlour (by the Memorial Hall) or you can phone the Squadron on 01446 747734, or email oc.372@air-cadets.org for more information.

Stags too strong for Newbridge

BARRY entertained Newbridge at the Island and the home team were put in to bat.

Gavin White and Nathan Baker got Barry off to a cautious start, but were gradually getting the better of the Newbridge bowlers when Baker was harshly adjudged LBW for 13. Rhett Jones joined White and shared a stand of 76, with Jones blasting a quick 36 before being smartly stumped off a wide delivery.

Steve Provis and White carried on accumulating runs when a bizarre injury brought a halt to proceedings for nearly two hours.

Attempting a run-out, one of the Newbridge players dislocated his shoulder and was unable to move. There was a 'light-hearted' moment as the player was lifted on the stretcher; he groaned in pain, with the umpire replying 'not out'.

Play resumed in the 36th over with Barry 156-2. White reached his 50 off 105 balls and was out for 53. Provis batted splendedly reaching his 50 off 46 balls, with Ian Gadd and Shae Ellis providing support.

With the overs disappearing, the race was on for Provis to reach his century, but he fell short and ended up 97 not out, with 11 fours and 2 sixes off just 74 balls as Barry posted 264-6 off 50 overs.

Newbridge were set a target of 252 off 47 overs. Morgan and Fortune got Newbridge off to a flyer, with Morgan finding the boundary with ease. Steve Jones got rid of Fortune and this brought former Glamorgan player Ryan Watkins to the crease, but he fell to Hellyar for only 10.

Horton Jnr came in and with Morgan took the score to 134-2 but was taken by an absolute cracker of a catch by Hellyar.

Morgan played a nothing shot and was caught by the lurking Hellyar off Baker and then skipper John Gee tore into the rest of the order as Newbridge subsided to 188 all out, with Gee taking 4-37 and Baker 2-49. Ellis and Billy Usswald picked up a wicket a-piece.

On Sunday, the Stags travelled to Llandaff school to play a re-arranged game against the Welsh Asians. Skipper Gee won the toss and asked the home side to bat, and was delighted when Shae Ellis threw down the stumps in the first over to run out the bewildered Singh.

Ghouri came to the crease and stroked the ball around as they tries to repair the damage of the early wicket. Jones bowled his 10 overs well, picking up a wicket for 42 runs, while Baker and Ellis slowed the run rate down with their spin.

Aris took a liking to the bowling of Usswald and blasted a fifty off 39 balls whilst Ghouri reached 57 before being the first of three stumpings by White. Aaron Smith raised the Stags' hopes with a two wicket blast off successive balls, the second being caught by his dad Huw. Usswald got some revenge by removing the last two wickets as the Welsh Asians finished 245 all out.

The Barry innings got off to a steady start as Huw Smith and Gavin White prodded and probed, but White fell early, which brought Andy Buckland to the crease and he hit a brisk 13.

Baker came in and along with Smith provided 42 runs for the third wicket before Smith was out for 19. Baker was the Stags' main hope and he reached his 50 off 56 balls, with good support coming from Ian Gadd (16) and Ellis (19).

With 69 needed off the last 10 overs and with Baker on 97 he played a rather rash shot which brought the end of a good knock which included 11 fours and 2 sixes. The rest of the innings was rather non-descript as Barry lost their last six wickets for just nine runs with Ghouri taking 4-31.

MILLWOOD BOWLING RESULTS

ON June 1, Millwood A faced Cadoxton 'A' in the SVL, a game which resulted in a home win for Millwood by a total of 9 shots, 83-74.

This was the final game of this league and was the only game that Millwood were victorious in.

This week's fixture is a league Division 6 game away to Ynysybwl 'A'.

In the Brian Oliver Trophy on the same day, Millwood were defeated 101-58 by Barry Romilly.

This annual fixture between these two clubs is in memory of Brian Oliver, who was a member of both bowling clubs.

The weather was just about perfect for the game, a slight breeze and lovely sunshine.

Romilly proved to be too strong for Millwood, winning on all four rinks by a shot total of 43.

As with every game, the game was played in the very best of sportsmanship, and good company after in the clubhouse.

This week sees the start of League 3 fixtures, with Millwood hosting St. Joseph's (Cardiff).

No rest for wicked

Huskies get powerful support

ABOVE:
Barry Huskies receive the donation from Jason Allen and Ian Tait of Aberthaw Power Station. Also pictured, club secretary Alun Rees.

ABERTHAW Power Station has made a donation to Barry Huskie – to help them cover the cost of basketball court fees.

The Barry Basketball Club has been running since 1964 and currently has 67 members, ranging from under-12s to adult teams. Both boys and girls train and compete in the South Wales league.

"Since the Vale leisure centres have become privatised, playing court fees have gone up so the donation will help to cover the cost of training and matches," said Alun Rees, secretary and club member since 1964. We are very pleased to support a thriving club and make sure it can offer this opportunity to such a wide range of youngsters," said Ian Tait, Aberthaw Power Station engineering manager who made the formal presentation.

The club has a double link with the power station as Jason Allen, EC&I team leader at the site, is dad to Ryan and Carys, who both play for the Huskies.

Anyone is welcome and can drop in for training on Sunday morning at Holm View Leisure Centre or call Alun on 02920 531531.

Golf skipper Sue hands over £7,830 donation to Velindre

AFTER a year of fundraising activities and events, the lady captain of Glamorganshire Golf Club, Sue Gibson, was "proud" to make a magnificent donation of £7,830.02 to Velindre Cancer Centre.

Sue was inspired by a Velindre fashion show she attended in the Vale Resort last year and was determined to go on and raise money for Velindre during her year as lady captain.

She organised a gala attended the event on behalf of Velindre, and said how generous the members of the golf club had been in supporting Sue Gibson's term of lady captain and helping to make the event such a huge success.

Andrew Morris, Head of Fundraising at Velindre, said: "This is a wonderful donation, and speaks volumes for the hard and commitment of Sue and her fellow members at the Glamorganshire Golf Club.

" It's remarkable to be able to raise so much in these difficult economic times and we are extremely grateful to everyone who contributed to this exceptional donation.

"The money raised will be used to help ensure the best possible support is offered to every patient, their family and carers dealing with cancer at Velindre."

RHOOSE FC'S END OF SEASON PARTY

SUNDAY, June 23 sees Rhoose Football Club host their end of season party and presentation night for the junior and mini sides.

The event being held in the main function hall at Fontygary holiday park has been kindly sponsored by the Park itself and Lafarge Cement, as both companies help the community around them.

The season again has seen the club grow as the village itself grows and currently over 120 children registered and a year-2 team already in place and training for the new coming season.

The season has plans in place for the forthcoming season including summer beach training, summer barbecue and other social events to make the club the heart of the village.

The event will have a disco and an interval for the coaches to give out trophies to the Rhoose players. We hope to see a great turn out as families turn out to support their players on congratulating them on a long successful season.

The presentation night will run from 4pm-7pm upstairs in the main hall at Fontygary Holiday Park; for more details about the club please visit our website, www.rhoosefc.co.uk. PH

AUDI A3 RESPONDS TO EVERY DRIVER'S WHIM

MOTORING with TIM SAUNDERS

DRIVING experience – words that every motorist knows about, no matter what vehicle they drive.

For some it will be a wholesome, positive experience, while for others, totally unsatisfactory. The latter not necessarily being the car's fault either, I might add – rather the driver's sheer incompetence behind the wheel.

But enough of the driving instructor's tales and my Sunday afternoon experiences.

In this day and age when so much is clinical and characterless, you could be forgiven for thinking that driving has become little more than another chore that just needs completing rather than being enjoyed and savoured.

So often the whole experience can be a pretty monotonous affair, especially with the amount of vehicles on the roads.

It is, therefore, refreshing to sit inside the Audi A3 TFSi S line, which responds to almost every driver's whim. There are five different modes ranging from economy to dynamic.

Understandably, the latter is by far the most enjoyable.

After all, it is the driving experience that lies at the heart of this splendid machine. Equipped with no less than a seven speed S tronic automatic gearbox, the driver can use it either as a traditional automatic or if they are feeling that they want more control, the stick can be pushed to the left and pushed up or down to go through the gears manually (as you can see in the video at test-drives.biz).

If that is still not satisfactory then the paddle shifts either side of the uniquely designed steering wheel will deliver an experience akin to driving a racing car. When selecting dynamic mode and using the manual option, the A3 is noticeably much more responsive, agile and nimble although there is still a slight delay when the accelerator is kicked. Push it to the floor and it seems to go on and on forever.

A very gutsy and exhilarating experience.

It's interesting to note that the paddle shifts can be used in conjunction with the manual option, if required.

Speed and agility are all very well but traditionally, such vehicles guzzled fuel like no tomorrow. I am, therefore, positively astounded that not only will this hot hatch travel from 0 to 60mph in just seven seconds, but it will also return a staggering 50mpg (there's a really reliable engine stop/start function, too).

You really can put your foot down without worrying about the fuel gauge plummeting. To put this into perspective, it is more efficient than my own diesel Ford Fiesta, which certainly does not provide the driving experience or performance.

The sporty feel throughout the A3 S line is helped by the golf ball-topped gearstick and the sports leather covered steering wheel. The driving position is critical and, pleasingly, I have no complaints; my arms comfortably resting outstretched at the ten to two position on the steering wheel. You would be surprised how often this ideal position is not attained due to an incorrect seat height that can't be adjusted to perfection and/or a steering wheel that cannot be adjusted for the optimum position.

With a dashboard that leans towards minimalism, it is certainly a refreshing take on what can so often be an overpowering, cluttered experience. The few switches present relate to such things as heated front seats and the air conditioning. It does take a while to adjust to the position of the volume control for the stereo; to the right of the gearstick.

The owners of a hot hatch like this are likely to be affluent 20 to 30 year olds. Therefore my baby seat and pushchair test is wholly unfair, but a necessity with my family. This three-door model will begrudgingly accept two baby seats in the rear – the front seats barely fold far enough forward to allow for the seats to be easily fitted in the back. The boot is large enough for a pushchair.

Overall, it takes much to beat this compact hatch, which is easy to park and supremely quick. It is one of my favourites.

New price range 2012 onwards: £17,905 - £28,165.

Engine: 1.8-litre turbo direct injection.

Economy: 50mpg.

0-60mph: 7secs.

Top speed: 144mph.

Power: 177bhp.

Fuel tank: 50 litres.

VALE MP HANDS OVER STORE'S KIT DONATION

Oak Field pupils celebrate their new sporting equipment with Vale MP Alun Cairns

NEW footballs and equipment have been handed over to Oak Field Primary School pupils in Barry.

The Vale MP, Alun Cairns, had received the donation from McDonald's Director of Football, Sir Geoff Hurst, and the FA's Director of Football Development, Sir Trevor Brooking in the House of Commons recently.

Geoff Hurst explained;:"Over the past decade, I've seen grassroots football take on a whole new guise and take a huge leap forward in terms of progress and quality.

"Kit and equipment is just one of many of the small ways that we can continue to support football at this level, and I hope Oak Field pupils enjoy using this fantastic new football gear."

Alun Cairns commented: "I was delighted to join in with some football training with the pupils at Oak Field Primary."

Sapphires' gem of a victory...

THE Sapphires beat the Diamonds in the Vale adult boccia league final at Hengoleg Resource Centre on the 10th anniversary of the league.

With 35 players made up of eight teams from Boccia Rollers, Cardiff and Vale College and Hengoleg Resource Centre, the Sapphires were helped by two Special Olympics Wales players in their team, Heather Williams and Suzy George. There was also a strong performance by Lucy George to help them to victory.

The Hengoleg Rolling Stones beat Hengoleg Fire Balls in a sudden death play-off for third place as the match ended even after normal play.

All teams put in good displays, especially the Cardiff and Vale College teams, taking part for the first time.

Vale Council Disability Sport Wales officer Simon Jones said: "It was great to see so many players taking part in the 10-year anniversary of the league. The standard was as high as ever and a great effort was put in by all players. I'd like to thank Linda Ruston and Val Savory for their help with the running of the league and helping it be a success."

GET ON THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

John Wright

John Wright became the Autosmart franchisee for Slough 3 years ago.

I left school at 16 without a huge amount of qualifications to train to become a heating and plumbing engineer. I worked my way up to become manager of an air conditioning company. Although I enjoyed my job, it wasn't going in the direction I would have liked and I felt that I needed a change.

I had previously heard of Autosmart and knew that these opportunities did not come up for sale very often. With over 30 years of experience, it's a tried and tested formula. You can see why the BFA awarded them with the prize Franchisor of the Year in 2012 and Best Franchisee Support in 2011. Autosmart's support is fantastic. It gives you the confidence and knowledge to build your business and picks you up if you have a knock. Even when he is not out with me, my Support Manager is always in contact to give me advice.

I love having the freedom to work on my own and set my own hours. I get to go to some cracking dealerships and see some really outstanding cars that you wouldn't normally see. My customer base is really varied – it's not just the automotive businesses that use our products – they're well respected in all sorts of markets. My customers even include engineers, food companies and printers.

I have grown my sales by over 200% since I joined, despite the recession, and I'm still growing. It's great to have control over your life and business and to know that your hard work benefits you directly. Would I do it again? Without question.

Tour de Force for rampant Lions

BACK PAGE COMMENT
by Don John

NO sooner had the final whistle sounded on the 2012-13 season, than rugby thoughts turned to summer tours, with Wales heading for the land of the rising sun, but overshadowed by the more high-profile British & Irish Lions' expedition to Oz, which finally kicked off yesterday (Wednesday) against Western Force in Perth.

While an unfamiliar Welsh team – the equivalent of New Zealand's 'baby Blacks' – were packing their bags for Japan, the bulk of the senior players were forming the broad spine of their seconded head coach Warren Gatland's Lions squad bound for Australia.

In fact, no fewer than 11 of them featured in Saturday's curtain-raiser in a sweltering Hong Kong stadium against a Barbarians' invitational side that a week earlier had been thrashed by England at Twickenham.

While it may not have been a true test of Lions' credentials, it did offer an opportunity for the heavy Welsh contingent to lay down an early tour marker – an opportunity they grasped with alacrity.

The team ran in eight, well-worked tries (seven of them by Welshmen) in an emphatic declaration of intent that would have put the waiting Wallabies on red alert.

After the 59-8 demolition of the Baabaas (who, sadly, on this occasion were more like Baa-lambs to the slaughter) the real opener came against Western Force, which in line with Gatland's pre-tour vow to give every member of the party a chance to impress, saw a completely-changed Lions' side, with only four Welshmen in the starting line-up – Leigh Halfpenny, George North, Alun-Wyn Jones and Ian Evans.

The team:

Leigh Halfpenny, Tommy Bowe, Brian O'Driscoll (captain), Manu Tuilagi, George North, Jonny Sexton; Conor Murray; Cian Healy, Rory Best, Dan Cole, Alun-Wyn Jones, Ian Evans, Tom Croft, Sean O'Brien, Jamie Heaslip.

Replacements: Tom Youngs, Mako Vunipola, Matt Stevens, Geoff Parling, Toby Faletau, Ben Youngs, Owen Farrell, Sean Maitland.

They faced what was said to be the weakest regional opposition the Lions were likely to meet Down Under.

As such, the game was expected to further ease the tourists' path into an exacting nine-match tour which will culminate in the three crunch Tests against the Wallabies.

And so indeed it proved – even if the Force did not exactly measure up to its name, given a controversially-depleted starting line-up that made nonsense of its place on a Lions' itinerary.

The selection paid the inevitable price as the tourists roared into a 27-3 halftime lead, eventually running in nine tries and two penalties, all of which were converted successfully by the ever-reliable Leigh Halfpenny, who again notched up a 100 per cent match kicking tally.

The final score, 69-17, represented something of a humiliation in that sports-mad country, whatever excuses may be put forward for the defeat, and it will surely give the Wallaby selectors much to ponder on.

Following on this display, and the Hong Kong performance, while there can be no place for complacency, Warren Gatland is in the more enviable head-scratching position of having an embarrassment of riches to choose from.

Clues to his thinking will come with the starting line-up against Queensland Reds at the Suncorp Stadium on Saturday, which should prove to be a much sterner test for a Lions' squad slowly gaining in confidence.

Cadoxton bowlers on form in Munro Cup

CADOXTON completed a third successive Munro Cup win, when they hosted the match against Cowbridge, on a wet and dismal evening.

Graham Brown lead the way on his rink with a resounding success, losing just 4 singles throughout. Derek Brook also steered his four to another big win, helped by a '6' in the closing stages. There was a chance of a further big win for Howard Craven's rink when leading 12-3 with four ends left, but the advantage was reduced with five shots against during the remaining ends.

Kelvin Chedgzoy was never behind on his rink, and so completed the 'clean sweep', taking all 14 points for the match.

G Western, P Swannick, I Robertson, D Brook 17 – 5 T Dunswirth, M Davey, A Wallace, J Trott; T Bishop, D Fanning, J Sugden, G Brown 21 – 4 G Watkins, J Hunt. Final score: 65 – 28.

CADOXTON V WINDSOR

A friendly match against Windsor Bowling club was hosted by Cadoxton.

The outcome was a home win with three winning rinks and one defeat. Another newcomer, Robert Clough, made his debut on Kelvin Chedzoy's rink. They had four lapses during the game against Trevor Warburton.

These were spaced out but made a big difference to an otherwise even game. A '6' on the first, and a '3'and '4' during the next five ends, left them trailing by 10 shots. The next 11 ends were closely contested when they reduced the deficit; however a '5' finished all hope of revival.

The rink skipped by Len Davies, produced the best result after a poor start when they trailed 5-0 after 4 ends.

A '4' reduced the deficit, which was followed by 5 more successful ends. The winning continued through the remainder of the game, except for just a '2' and three singles against.

Don Kuhnell once again had good support from the players on his rink to produce a steady, undemanding success.

To complete the match, Howard Craven's rink took part in a see-saw game. Five nil down changed to what seemed to be a large winning lead at 21 – 7.

However the next five ends were lost including a '6' which left them with just a three shot advantage. A '3' on the next stopped the run, which was enough to ensure victory.

CADOXTON 'A' V MILLWOOD 'A'

The last of the SVL games was played at Millwood, and produced two winning rinks skipped by Gordon Davies and Roy Harding, and a tie on Ivor Robertson's.

Unfortunately, the aggregate score went to the home side, with their convincing successful rink outscoring the other three.

E Heppenstall, G Western, A Turner, G Davies 21 - 14 S Hopkins, P Childs, J Rolf, A Hardwick; G Powell, S Clarke, J Sugden, R Harding 27 – 18 C Mallows, R Wills, R Gregory, A Williams; I Heppenstall, D Fanning, G Solomon, I Robertson 17 – 17 B Annis, M Evans, V O'Leary, D Jeffries; S Clements, D Hammond, R Cole, M Curtis 10 – 34 J Marks, H Hodgkinson, B Hayman, J Butler. Final score: 75 - 83.

Island Marine FC doing their bit for charity!

ISLAND MARINE FC mini teams have been busy raising amazing amounts of money for two very worthwhile charities, Heart UK and Latch.

Both fundraising events were in the form of sponsored penalty shoot outs, the first of which took place at Maslin Park and raised £801.30 for Heart UK.

The second, and most recent, raised a whopping £1,702 for Latch!

The club would like to thank everyone involved in the penalty shoot outs including players, coaches and treasurers!

Also, a massive thank you to all family and friends who sponsored our Island Marine FC players!

Dates for your diary...

WHERE do all the chess players go in May?

After a long winter season which ends around the end of April some players seem to hibernate and only reappear when the new season starts in September.

However, unlike some other clubs we in Barry have access to our venue all year and try to enter into as many competitions as possible.

We have a team playing in the Wales Knock Out Cup finals on Sunday, June 23, at the Bessemer Hotel, Dowlais, Merthyr. The selected team for the U1500 plate final is Sam White, Chris Green, Phil Jones and, last but not least, Windsor Lewis.

We also have a team entered in the East Glamorgan summer league open section. The team will be captained by Lee Davis and has fixtures at home to Caeffatri on June 17, away to Cardiff on July 3, and finally at home to Penarth on July 22.

This will be the fifth year of this tournament. The Barry side won the inaugural event and was also victorious in both the 2011 and 2012 events. We are looking for a hat-trick of titles here.

During August we hope to organise one or possibly two events at our home venue. More details will follow as the arrangements are finalized.

For those of us who are involved in organising and administrative duties for the Barry club and East Glamorgan Chess Association, the work never ends. In addition to the above matches there are a number of important annual general meetings held during the summer months.

The first is the Welsh Chess Union meeting on June 11, followed by the East Glamorgan AGM.

Someone's hands will be full as at this meeting we will be presented with trophies for winning last year's summer league, both the open and U1700 sections, the summer knock-out cup and perhaps more importantly the Division two trophy.

The Barry club holds its AGM on Monday, July 1. If there are any new or prospective members of the club, I suggest that they contact either myself or another club member before turning up at the club so that we can ensure you receive a warm welcome. For more details visit our website, barrychessclub.yolasite.com.

The Barry Chess Club meets each Monday at their home venue of the West End club, St Nicholas Road, Barry, CF62 6QY, with matches starting at 7:30pm; new players of all ages and standards are welcomed. PJ
